Dear Alumni, Parents, and Friends

A year ago I wrote to you about the groundbreaking for the College's new residence hall. When we opened this semester in August, eighty-five juniors and seniors moved into that new building on the corner of Washington Boulevard and Mulberry Street. Although designed as one building, separate first floor entrances and individual porches reinforce the surrounding neighborhood atmosphere while the overall architectural design connects the building to the College's campus. The apartment-style suites are equipped with kitchenettes and provide upperclass students with a more independent living option.

As one of only 266 National Liberal Arts Colleges, Lycoming continues to prepare undergraduate students in many ways for their futures. The quality of the College's educational approach continues to be broadly recognized, most recently by Princeton Review, which included Lycoming as one of the "Best Northeastern Colleges," and by Washington Monthly, which ranked Lycoming 58th out of over 200 institutions based on its strong graduation rate, the large percent of students who participate in community service, and the College's continued commitment to access and affordability.

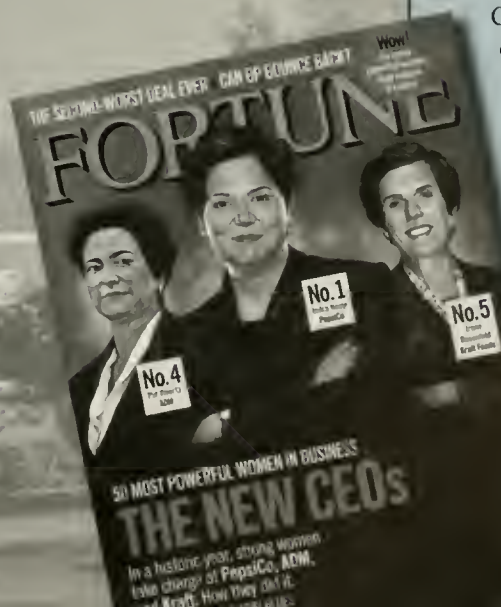

Last month the College welcomed alumna Deirdre Connelly '83 back to Williamsport. Ms. Connelly is the president of Lilly

Deirdre Connelly '83

USA and was recently selected by Fortune magazine as one of the fifty most powerful women in business. When I spoke to her about her successes after graduation, she cited the significant influences of Lycoming faculty on her life. As is true of so many Lycoming alumni, she benefited from the opportunity to get to know and to work with a faculty who take interest in their students and foster their professional and personal growth.

Through your generosity, each of you has had an impact on the lives of our students. Those of you who are donors to the 2006-07 Annual Fund have played a vital role in providing annual resources needed to support the educations of our current students. Those of you who have provided endowments and other long-term support are securing Lycoming's well-earned status as a National Liberal Arts College. You all join others who for almost 200 years have believed in the value of the programs here and have made it possible for the College to continue its tradition of small classes taught by highly credentialed full-time faculty. Your support strengthens the strong liberal arts and sciences curriculum and makes possible the wide array of extra-curricular activities as well as the fine facilities of the College.

On behalf of Lycoming College, I thank you for your generosity and support. With your help, Lycoming College will continue to present brighter futures to our students for many years to come.

Sincerely,

James E. Douthat
President

A Message From Development

With the Campaign for a Brighter Future well underway, fiscal year 2007 was filled with exciting development opportunities at Lycoming College. The Development Staff immensely enjoyed working with several donors who invested in the future of Lycoming College and its students. From critical annual fund dollars to support for Lycoming's new residence hall to new endowed funds that will provide opportunities for the students of tomorrow, Lycoming is grateful to each person and corporation listed on the pages that follow. Simply stated, without their gifts Lycoming College would not be able to offer the quality national liberal arts education synonymous with its reputation.

The Campaign for a Brighter Future received over $5M in new commitments during the fiscal year. As of June 30, 2007, the Campaign totals surpassed $33M making the goal of $42M within a $9M reach. We thank the many donors who have made commitments to the Campaign during the fiscal year and extend an invitation to new individuals interested in investing in the students of tomorrow. Together we will continue creating brighter futures for countless generations of Lycoming students.

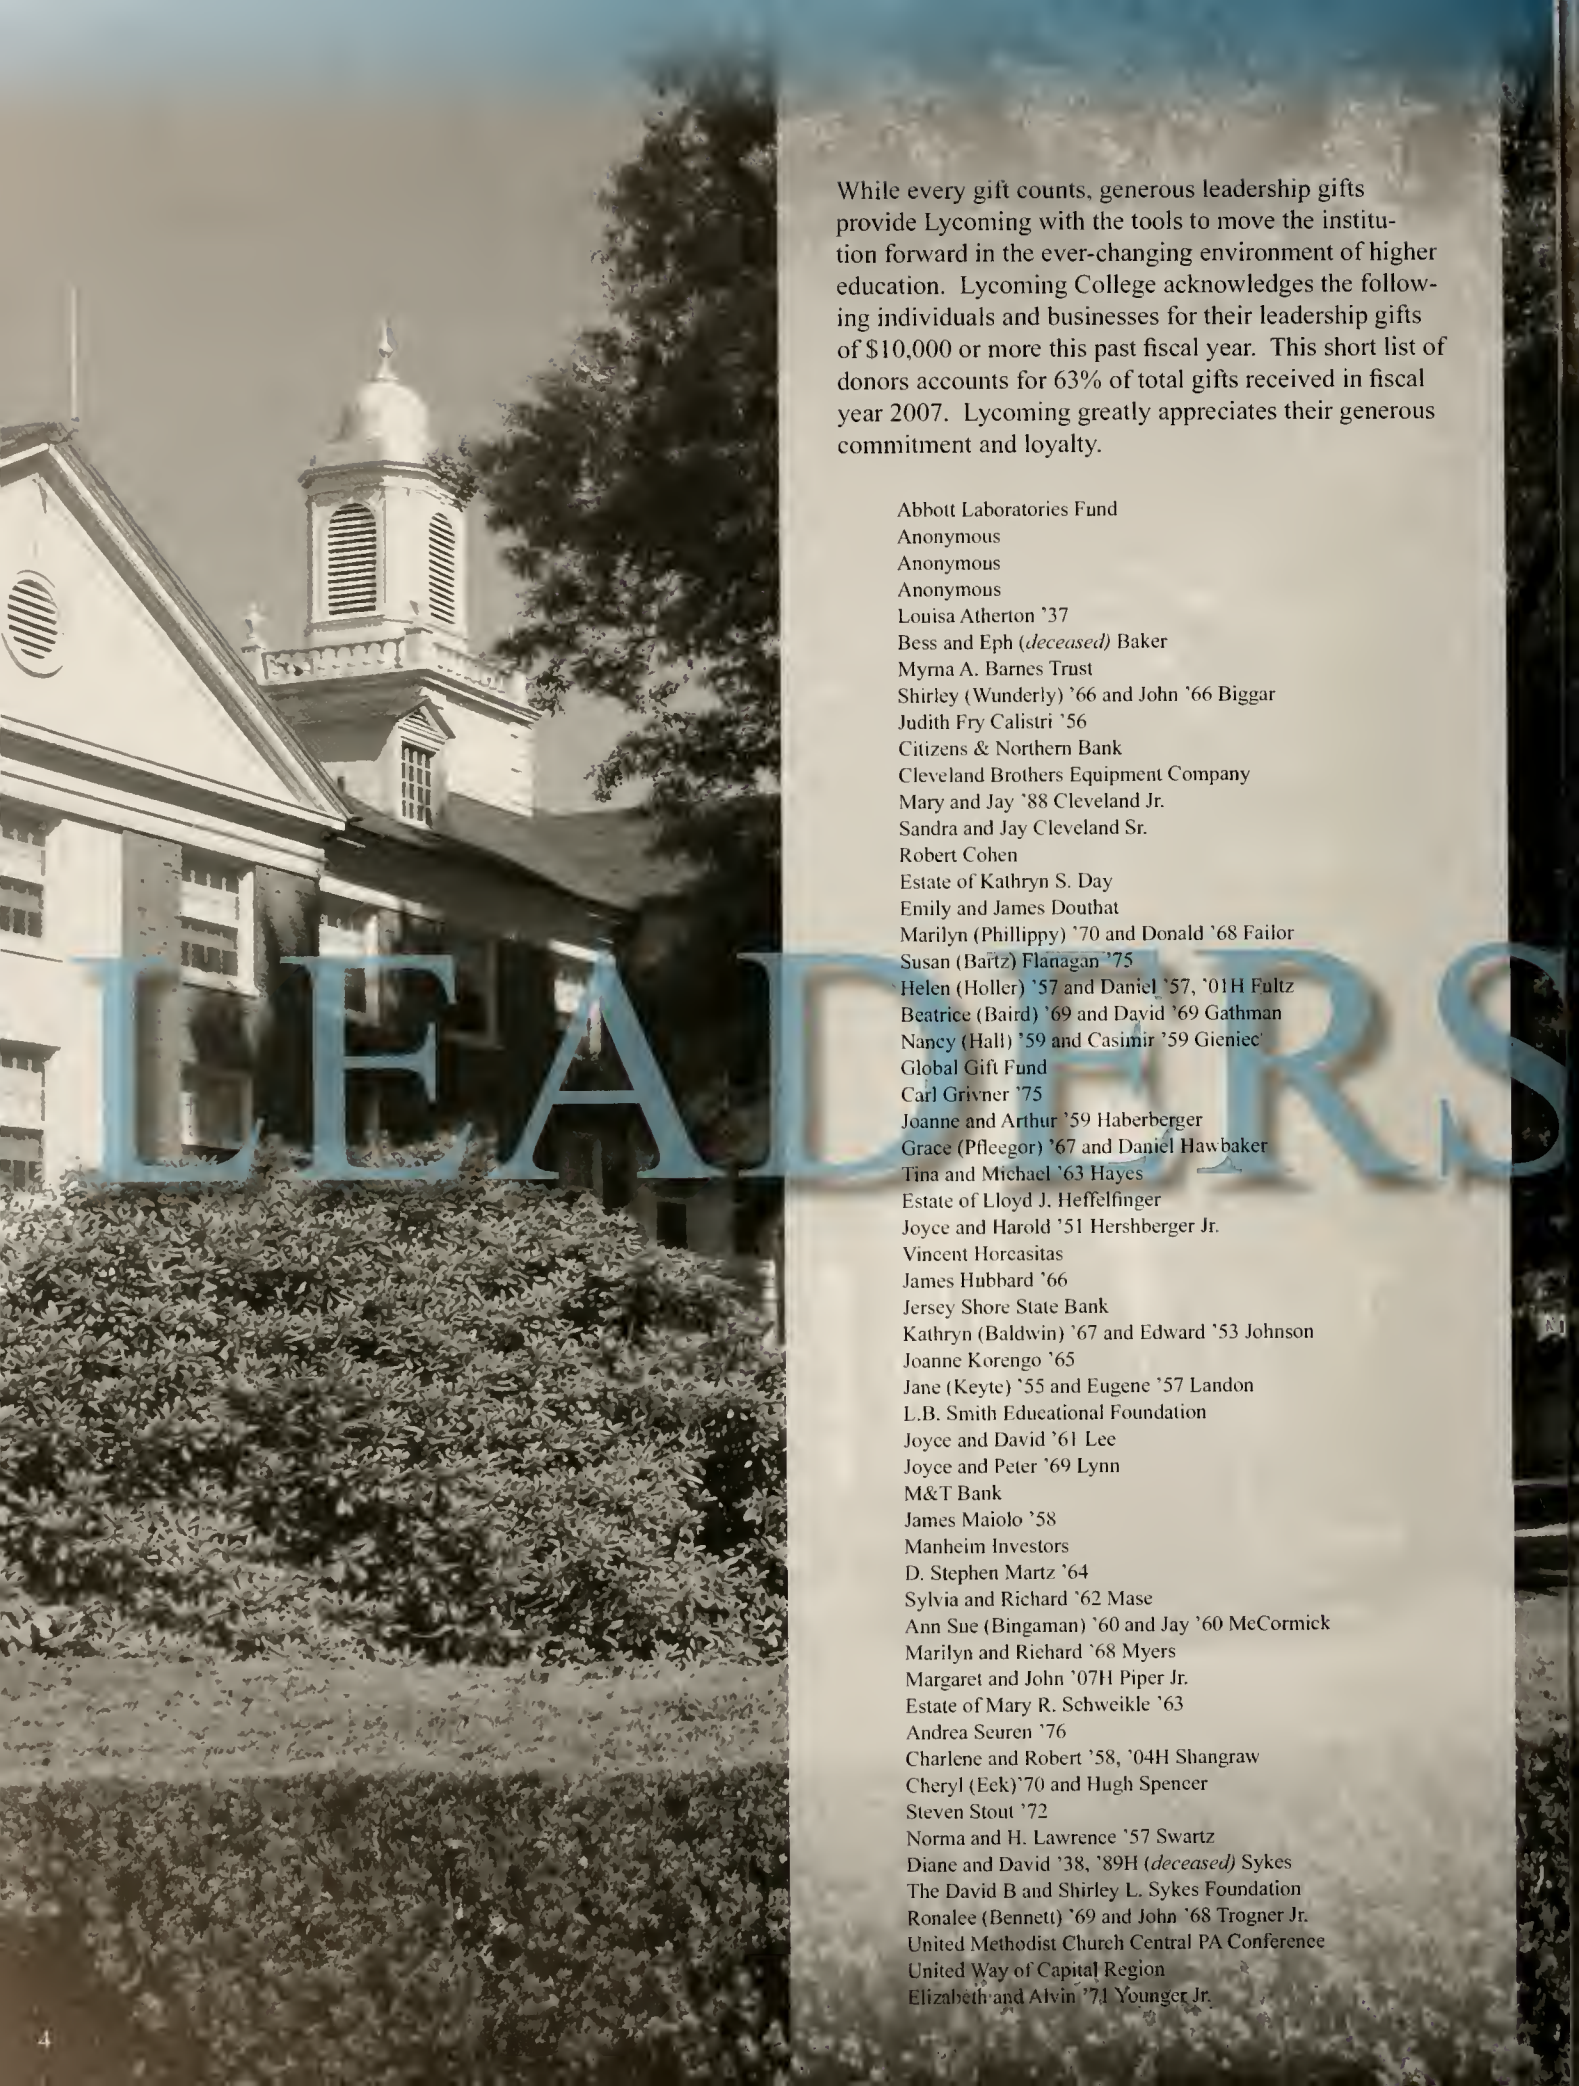

Lynn E. Jackson
Vice President for College Advancement

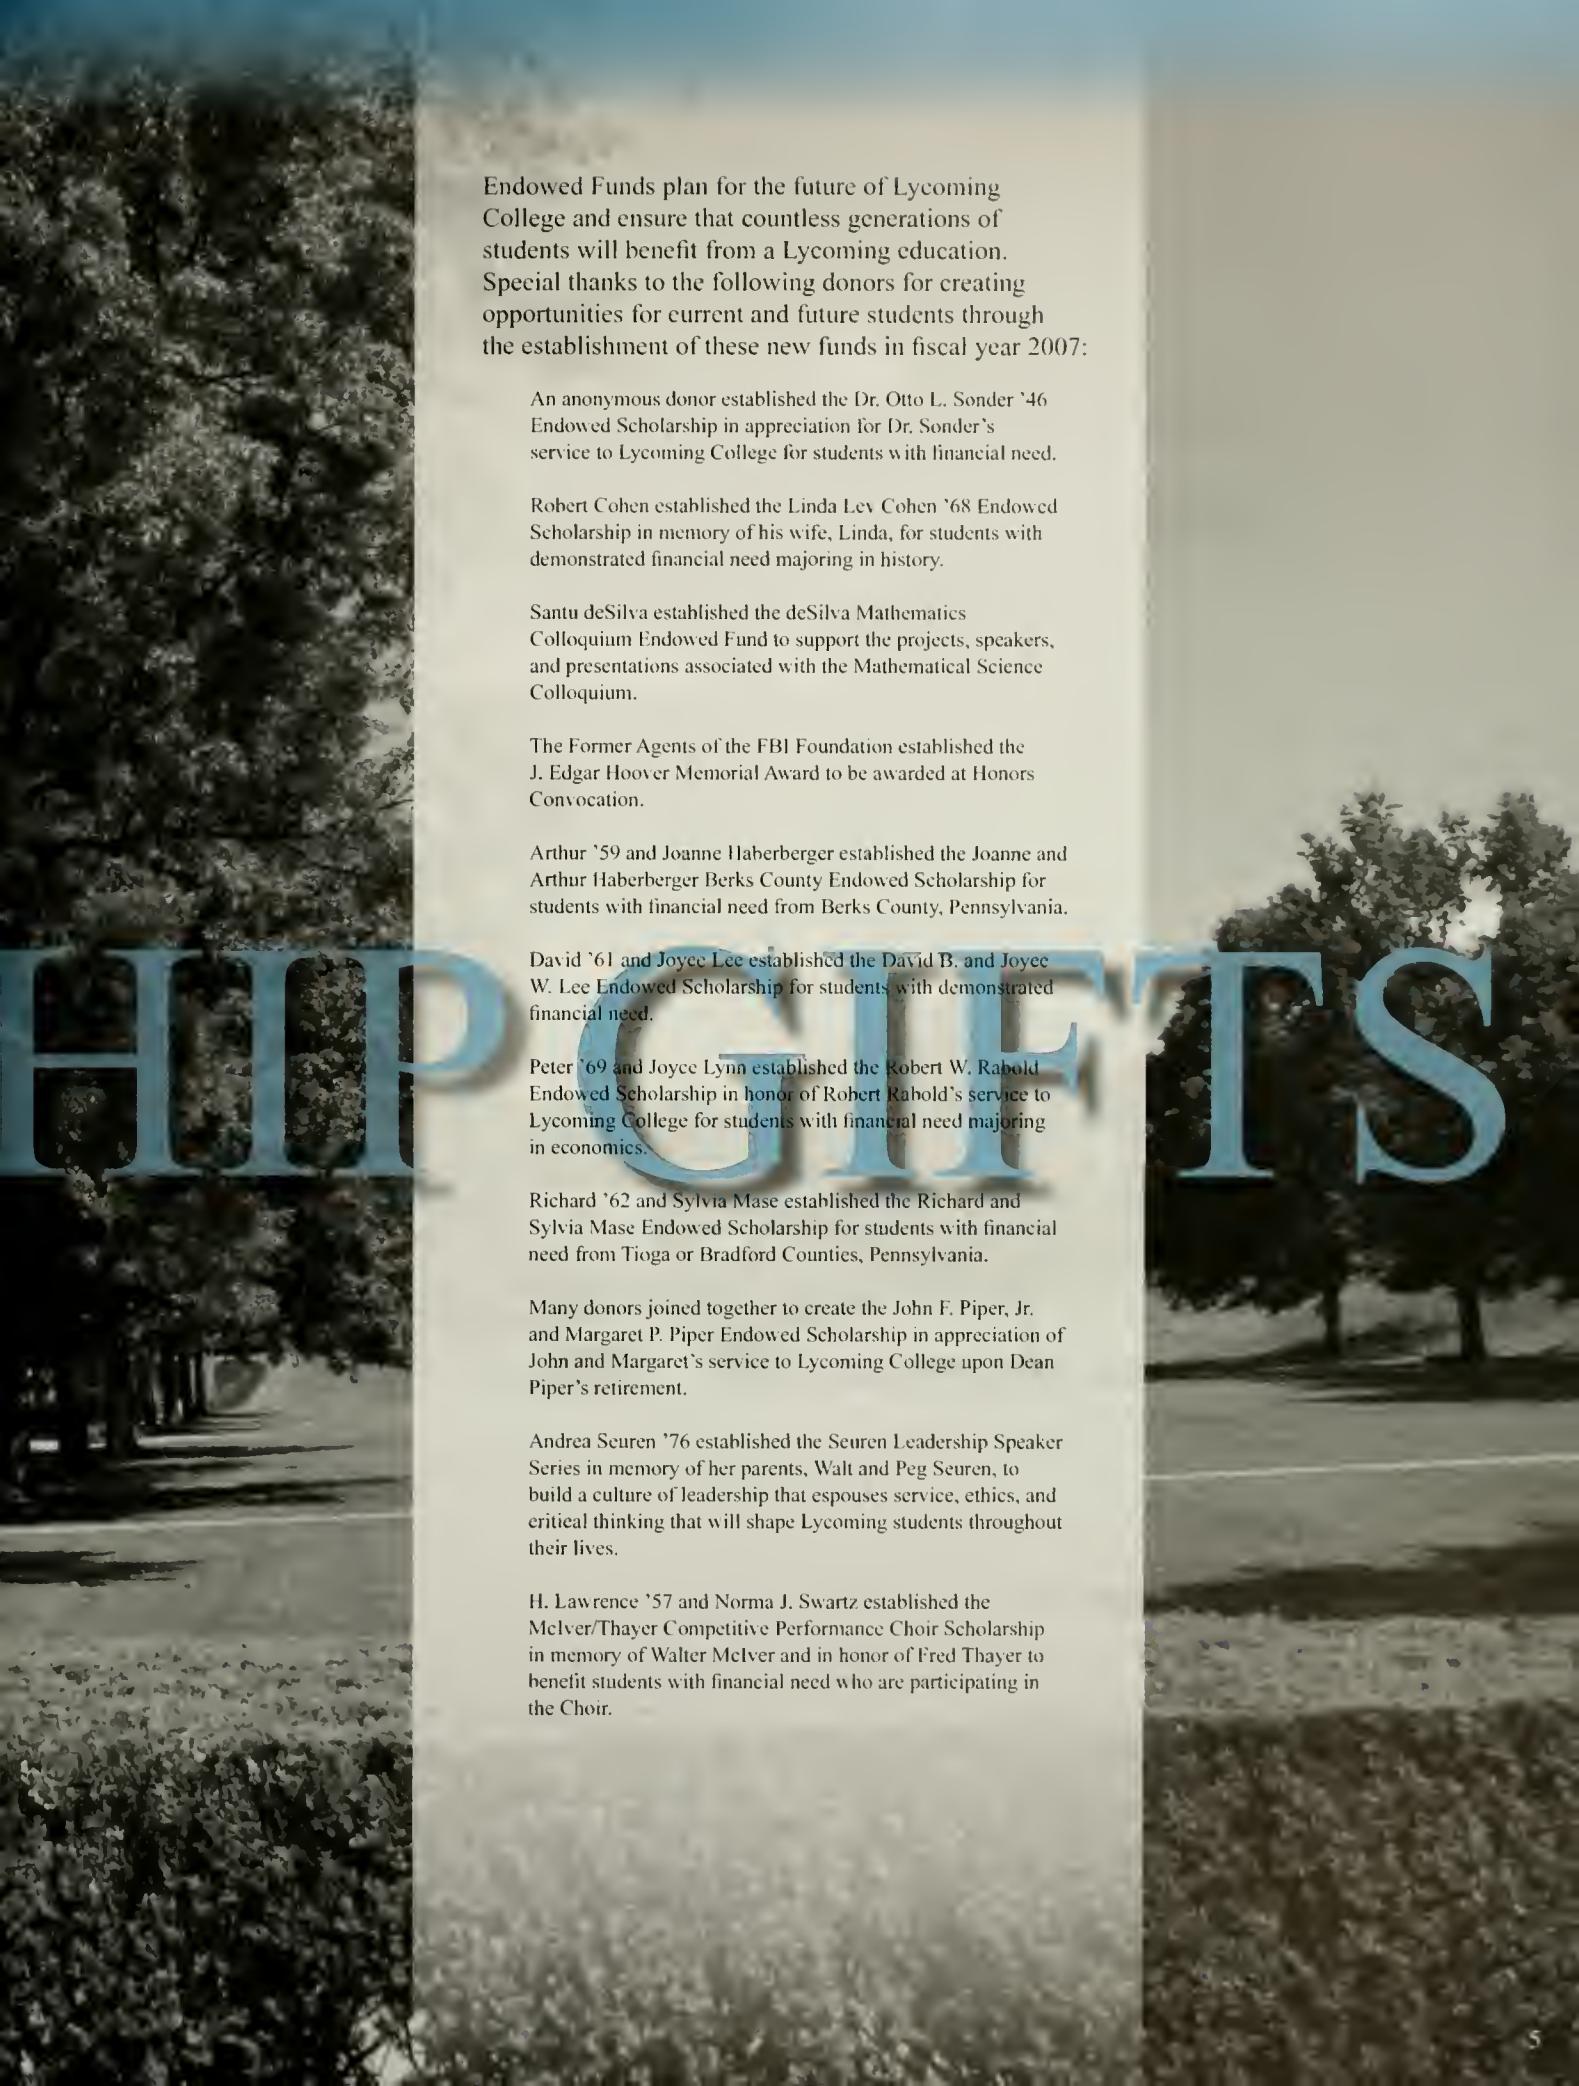

Jennifer D. Wilson
Director of Development

While every gift counts, generous leadership gifts provide Lycoming with the tools to move the institution forward in the ever-changing environment of higher education. Lycoming College acknowledges the following individuals and businesses for their leadership gifts of $10,000 or more this past fiscal year. This short list of donors accounts for 63% of total gifts received in fiscal year 2007. Lycoming greatly appreciates their generous commitment and loyalty.

Endowed Funds plan for the future of Lycoming College and ensure that countless generations of students will benefit from a Lycoming education. Special thanks to the following donors for creating opportunities for current and future students through the establishment of these new funds in fiscal year 2007:

An anonymous donor established the Dr. Otto L. Sonder '46 Endowed Scholarship in appreciation for Dr. Sonder's service to Lycoming College for students with financial need.

Robert Cohen established the Linda Lev Cohen '68 Endowed Scholarship in memory of his wife, Linda, for students with demonstrated financial need majoring in history.

Santu deSilva established the deSilva Mathematics Colloquium Endowed Fund to support the projects, speakers, and presentations associated with the Mathematical Science Colloquium.

The Former Agents of the FBI Foundation established the J. Edgar Hoover Memorial Award to be awarded at Honors Convocation.

Arthur '59 and Joanne Haberberger established the Joanne and Arthur Haberberger Berks County Endowed Scholarship for students with financial need from Berks County, Pennsylvania.

David '61 and Joyce Lee established the David B. and Joyce W. Lee Endowed Scholarship for students with demonstrated financial need.

Peter '69 and Joyce Lynn established the Robert W. Rabold Endowed Scholarship in honor of Robert Rabold's service to Lycoming College for students with financial need majoring in economics.

Richard '62 and Sylvia Mase established the Richard and Sylvia Mase Endowed Scholarship for students with financial need from Tioga or Bradford Counties, Pennsylvania.

Many donors joined together to create the John F. Piper, Jr. and Margaret P. Piper Endowed Scholarship in appreciation of John and Margaret's service to Lycoming College upon Dean Piper's retirement.

Andrea Seuren '76 established the Seuren Leadership Speaker Series in memory of her parents, Walt and Peg Seuren, to build a culture of leadership that espouses service, ethics, and critical thinking that will shape Lycoming students throughout their lives.

H. Lawrence '57 and Norma J. Swartz established the Melver/Thayer Competitive Performance Choir Scholarship in memory of Walter Melver and in honor of Fred Thayer to benefit students with financial need who are participating in the Choir.

ANNUAL FUND

During the 2006-2007 fiscal year, Lycoming College's alumni, parents, and friends contributed $863,090 to the Lycoming Annual Fund, setting a new record of success! Gifts to the Lycoming Annual Fund are immediately put into action, supporting financial aid, academic programs, and student life.

Tuition only covers 61% of the cost of a student's education at Lycoming. The remaining 39% is funded by outside support, including gifts to the Lycoming Annual Fund. Each year, support to the Lycoming Annual Fund helps ensure the vitality and strength of the College, providing 95% of students with some form of financial aid.

Thank you for your generous support!

Bringing Back the Pleasure of a Phone Call

By Loni N. Kline, Director of Annual Giving

In 1876, Alexander Graham Bell shaped world history with the invention of the telephone. Back then, it was a thrill to receive a phone call, and the news of telecommunication spread quickly. In today's era, news about the "Do Not Call" list spread even faster. Lycoming students want to change your perception of telephone communication, and bring back the pleasure of a phone call—the best way to stay connected!

Throughout the academic year, a team of 25 Lycoming students spend evening hours making phone calls to connect with alumni, parents, and friends. Our callers are anxious to hear a voice on the other end of the phone, as they enjoy the opportunity to proudly represent Lycoming. These students are representatives of Lycoming, not telemarketers.

Sure, the callers encourage financial support to the Lycoming Annual Fund, but the donations are bonuses to each conversation. Phonathon calls give students the chance to offer news about Lycoming, to network with alumni and friends, and to expand their skills. Their success is not exclusively calculated by the amount of money raised, but by the creation and maintenance of relationships.

The next time "Lycoming College" appears on caller-id, please pick up the phone, and give one of our fine students an opportunity to update you on all things Lycoming. Together, we may not be pioneers of telecommunication, as Alexander Graham Bell was, but we can bring back the pleasure of a phone call.

Dr. Stephen Storck Named Vice President and Treasurer

Stephen R. Storck, CPA, PhD, has been named Vice President and Treasurer of Lycoming College. The announcement was made on August 20 by President James E. Douthat. Dr. Storck will leave his position as Vice President for Administration and Chief Financial Officer at Heidelberg College in Ohio this fall to lead the Business Division at Lycoming. He will succeed Mr. Robert W. Griesemer, who retired from Lycoming College in June.

"We are delighted with Steve Storck's decision to join us as the senior financial officer at the College," said Dr. Douthat. "He comes with broad leadership experiences at several fine private institutions." Prior to his service at Heidelberg, Dr. Storck was the Vice President for Business Affairs at Otterbein College in Ohio for 18 years and has worked in other capacities at colleges in Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Dr. Storck earned the PhD from Ohio University, the MBA from York College, and holds a bachelor of arts in accounting from King's College.

At Lycoming

"Lycoming College has much of which to be proud, including the significant achievements of the past 20 years," said Dr. Storck. "It is positioned well for the future, and I am looking forward to being part of the campus community. I have been particularly impressed by the important recognition that Lycoming has recently received from outside entities. But, it was the friendliness and approachability of the people that I encountered while on campus that I found most appealing."

Dr. Storck and his wife, Phyllis, are the parents of two grown children. While in Ohio, Dr. Storck served on a number of boards, including the Westerville Chamber of Commerce, the Rotary Clubs of Tiffin and Westerville, and the Westerville Symphony Orchestra.

WELCOME, Class of 2011!

The Class of 2011 was formally welcomed to Lycoming College on Friday, August 24, during the New Student Convocation. The 400-member class made the traditional march through the Sykes Gate and proceeded to the upper quad, where the class was greeted by faculty and staff members in academic regalia, as well as family and friends.

Dr. Mehrdad Madresehee, Chair of the Faculty, was the presenter of the mace. Speakers included Dr. James E. Douthat, President of the College; Dr. Thomas Griffiths, Provost and Dean of the College; and Ms. Regina M. Collins, Assistant Dean for Freshmen.

Mr. David E. Freet '68 of Harrisburg, President of the Pennsylvania Telephone Association, was the guest speaker. "I'd like to welcome you to this new opportunity in your life," said Freet. "Don't hesitate to try new things. You'll learn from the experience and be better for it."

During the ceremony, Dr. Griffiths presented the General Board of Higher Education and Ministry Exemplary Teacher Award to Dr. Gene Sprechini, who joined the Mathematical Sciences Department in 1981. Dr. Sprechini was also the recipient of the 2007 Constance Cupp Plankenhorn Alumni Award for Faculty Excellence.

The choir and brass ensemble performed several selections during the afternoon's ceremony. Sr. Catherine Ann Gilvary delivered the invocation. A reception was held on the upper quad for all those in attendance following the Convocation.

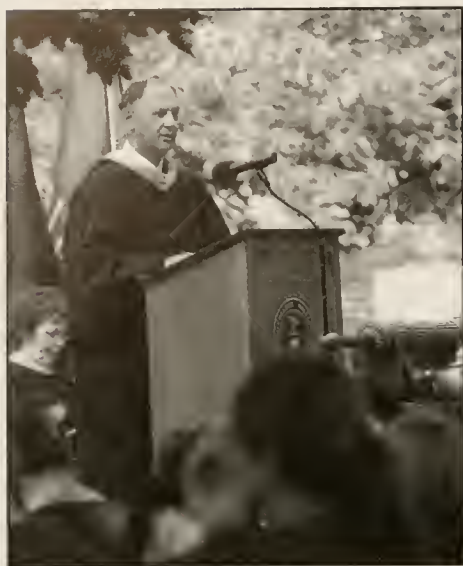

The Class of 2011 represents Lycoming College's national status, with students coming from Orlando, Phoenix, Houston, Seattle, and Los Angeles, according to Mr. James Spencer, Dean of Admissions and Financial Aid.

The Class of 2011 passes through the Sykes Gate on August 24.

New Provost and Dean of the College Dr. Thomas Griffiths (at the podium) presents Dr. Gene Sprechini with the Exemplary Teacher Award.

Convocation speaker David Freet '68

The incoming class includes nine high school valedictorians and salutatorians. Fifty students have been invited to participate in the College's Scholars Program.

"The largest anticipated major of the incoming class is biology, with business, archaeology, psychology, and English right behind," said Spencer. "We've seen renewed interest in the sciences in each of the past three years. I credit the College's Clean Water Institute as being the catalyst for this surge."

New Residence Hall Opens

Lycoming College's first new residence hall since 1965 opened when students arrived for the start of the fall semester. The L-shaped townhouse configuration, located on the corner of Washington Boulevard and Mulberry Street, accommodates 85 students.

The design of the façade and landscaping suggests a cluster of single family houses when, in fact, all of the units are adjoined. The residence hall is the College's first to be air conditioned. Residents were selected using a lottery system, with senior status and GPA as criteria. "I am very excited about living in the new Residence Hall, especially since I will be among the first to live there," said senior Jamie Rowe of Honesdale, Pa. "I have high expectations because it is such a positive addition to the campus. I hope it will allow me to have more freedom, but still experience cooperative living."

The Development Office is pleased to announce there are several residence hall naming opportunities available for interested individuals or businesses. For more information, please contact Jennifer Wilson, Director of Development, at 570.321.4395, or wilson@lycoming.edu.

applicants in the new 2008 edition of its book, "Best Northeastern Colleges."

"The schools in this book all have excellent academic programs," says Robert Franek, Princeton Review's V.P., Publishing. "We chose them from several hundred Northeastern schools we considered based on institutional data we collect about the schools, our surveys of students attending them, and our visits to schools over the years. We also worked to have a wide representation of colleges in the book by size, selectivity, character and locale."

The book includes schools in the District of Columbia and eleven states: Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island, and Vermont.

The Princeton Review surveyed 62,000 students at the 222 colleges in this edition of the book (about 275 per campus). The 80-question survey asked students to rate their schools in several categories—from the accessibility of their professors to quality of the campus food—and answer questions about themselves, their fellow students, and their campus life. Comments from surveyed students pepper the

Dean's List Tailgate Kicks Off Football Season

On Saturday, September 1, the Development Office hosted the First Annual Dean's List Tailgate to kick-off the 2007 Lycoming Football season. More than 85 alumni, parents, and friends of Lycoming gathered on a beautiful afternoon at David Person Field for good food and conversation.

President James E. Douthat and Emily Douthat were present to greet the College's guests. Dr. Tom Griffiths, Lycoming's new Provost and Dean of the College, and his wife, Dr. Margaret Griffiths, were also present to be welcomed to the Lycoming community.

The event was held in appreciation of donors giving to the Dean's List society. The Development Office sends a special thank you to all those who support Lycoming College.

Chairman of the Board of Trustees Arthur Habberger '59 visits with Janice '60 and Wayne '64 Stebbins.

Student and Academic Plant Projects

Central to the College's mission of providing a distinguished baccalaureate education is the College's residential character.

To provide a true home for its students, the College has identified five capital improvement projects:

- The Recreation Center
- The Mary Lindsay Welch Honors Hall
- A New Residence Hall
- Library Renovation and Technology Upgrade
- Detwiler Planetarium Improvements

Annual Baltimore Team Timeout Goes Indoors

The always-popular Team Timeout at Camden Yards in Baltimore again drew scores of alumni and guests on Saturday, July 14, 2007. Thanks to event organizer Stephen Simchak '99, picnickers enjoyed the cool indoors with a view of the field from the Camden Club, located in the Warehouse at Oriole Park, prior to an evening match-up between the Orioles and the Chicago White Sox. Lynn Jackson, Vice President for College Advancement, shared an update on the College before the group moved out to the stands for the game, which ended in an exciting extra-innings win for the home team.

Event organizer Stephen Simchak '99 talks with Charlie Howe '61 over pre-game refreshments in the Camden Club.

Melanie Taormina '94, Director of Alumni Relations; Matt Schap; Lynn Jackson, Vice President for College Advancement; Denise Drosdak '05; and Amber Simchak '02 visit during the Team Timeout picnic.

Alum Brother and Sister Organize 2nd Annual New Jersey Picnic

Michael Holland '89 and Shannon (Holland) Desiderioscioli '92 again opened their Barnyard and Carriage House restaurant patio to over 40 alumni and guests for the 2nd Annual New Jersey Picnic. The sun smiled brightly on the afternoon's picnic and conversation, and attendees heard news from the College from Lynn Jackson, Vice President for College Advancement, and Melanie Taormina, Director of Alumni Relations, who brought along photos of the campus's newest additions.

Six Decades of Alumni Gather for Annual Outing in Williamsport

Alumni from the '50s through the '00s gathered at Williamsport's Historic Bowman Field to enjoy a picnic on the deck in Cutters Cove and a minor league baseball game. President James and Emily Douthat and chairman of Lycoming's board of trustees Arthur Haberberger '59 and his wife Joanne visited with alumni over the course of the evening's festivities. Attendees received free t-shirts courtesy of the Crosscutters. The team, a single-A affiliate of the Philadelphia Phillies, also treated guests to a win over the visiting Mahoning Valley Scrappers.

Alumni Take the King Tut Tour

Sixty alumni and guests met bright and early on Saturday, September 8, for a tour of the King Tut exhibit at the Franklin Institute in Philadelphia. Following the morning tour, the group viewed the IMAX "Mummies: Secrets of the Pharaohs." About half of the group made a day of it by staying in Philly for a luncheon at Rembrandt's with President James and Emily Douthat. Area trustees, including Chairman of the Board Art Haberberger, along with his wife Joanne, and members of the Alumni Association Executive Board, were also in attendance. After lunch, President Douthat shared news from the College, giving updates on the new residence hall, campus technology, and additions to academic programs. Did you know that more than 1,800 Lycoming alumni live within 50 miles of Philadelphia? That's more than 10% of all living Lycoming alumni of record!

CALL FOR ALUMNI ASSOCIATION AWARD NOMINATIONS

Lycoming College graduates have succeeded in many ways—personally, professionally, and in support of the College. To recognize Lycoming alumni and their successes, the following awards are presented annually at Homecoming:

Angela R. Kyte Outstanding Alumnus Award

Given to a senior alumnus who has demonstrated a lifetime of service to humanity and whose life exemplifies those qualities encouraged and fostered at Lycoming College and its predecessor institutions.

Outstanding Achievement Award

Given in recognition of a very special accomplishment which reflects positively on Lycoming College and/or its predecessor institutions. This could be in a professional field or another area of accomplishment.

Dale V. Bower Service Award

Given to an alumnus or non-alumnus for outstanding service rendered to Lycoming College.

To submit a nomination for any of the above awards, please use the online form at <http://www.lycoming.edu/alumni/lcaa/nominationform.htm> or provide the following via regular mail: the name and class year of the nominee; the award for which you are nominating him/her; specific information in support of his/her candidacy; your name, class year, mailing address, phone number, and e-mail address. Send your nomination to:

Office of Alumni Relations
Lycoming College
700 College Place, Box 163
Williamsport, PA 17701

The Membership, Nominations, and Awards Committee of the Alumni Association Executive Board will select the award winners from the nominations received.

Dr. David O. Robbins '65 Appointed Interim Ohio Wesleyan President

Dr. David O. Robbins '65 was appointed Interim President of Ohio Wesleyan University. Robbins, a 34-year Ohio Wesleyan employee, assumed his new role on July 1, following the departure of current President Mark W. Huddleston.

Robbins is a 1965 graduate of Lycoming College, where he earned bachelor of arts degrees in biology and psychology. He received both his master's degree and his doctorate in physiological psychology from the University of Delaware.

Robbins joined the Ohio Wesleyan faculty in 1973. He has served as provost since August 2005, leading the faculty and working as an officer for the university. Robbins also has served as a professor and chair in the Department of Psychology, as director of the Neuroscience Program, and as director of the Summer Science Research Program.

Prior to joining Ohio Wesleyan, Robbins was a principal investigator in the Department of Physiology and then director of research at the Eye Research Foundation of Bethesda, Md., a former affiliate of the Department of Ophthalmology at the University of Maryland School of Medicine. He also taught part time on the Maryland campus of the National Institutes of Health.

N.C. He and wife Sally welcomed their first grandchild, Bodie Cairns Critchfield, into the family in February this year. Richard would love to hear from fellow alums at ericksrcll@aol.com.

Lucy (Dersham) Fesler (sociology), her husband Jeffrey, and P. David "Duke" (accounting) and Lois (Loncoske) Shoemaker '66 (sociology) traveled to Portland, Oregon, for the 100th anniversary of the Rose Festival in June. Their week together included visits to beautiful rose gardens, parades, tours of U.S. Navy ships, and dining at many of Portland's renowned restaurants. Both families also enjoyed visits with their respective sons, Jay Fesler in Portland and Stephen Shoemaker in Eugene. As knowledgeable tour guides, their sons helped them experience the great public transportation, lively streets, and congenial residents that Portland offers.

Lucy would like fellow classmates to know that Sue

Brown, widow of Walley Brown '65, who died after a valiant battle with skin cancer, may be reached at 3404 Cook Road, Medina, Ohio 44256.

Bill Landau (biology) recently began a new position as Science Chair at the Rae Kushner Yeshiva High School in Livingston, N.J. He officially began his duties, which include teaching biology and physics classes and supervising the staff, on September 1. Bill loves the vitality and energy that are sparked by making change and is looking forward to the challenges ahead. Now that he is in the Livingston area, he enjoys being close to his daughters and three grandchildren – soon to be four! Bill continues his love of art – painting, printing, cutting, hammering, gluing, and what he calls, in general, "making a mess" – and he exhibits his work whenever he can.

for the Lycoming soccer team. Rich jokes that Fred's recruitment efforts failed but is quick to note that Fred still went on to be inducted in the Lycoming College Athletic Hall of Fame. Fred's e-mail address is fred@speedyprintingtx.com.

Richard retired from the Du Pont Company in 1995 and now resides in Southport,

Common Cause National Governing Board

Robert William (Bob) Edgar, the general secretary of The National Council of the Churches of Christ in the USA (NCC), and a former congressman who represented eastern Pennsylvania from 1975 to 1987, was elected president and chief executive officer of Common Cause by the organization's National Governing Board. Edgar succeeds Chellie Pingree, who stepped down in February.

Edgar is a 1965 graduate of Lycoming College with a bachelor of arts degree in history. He holds a master of divinity degree from the Theological School of Drew University in Madison, N.J. He also holds four honorary doctoral degrees.

As president and chief executive officer, Edgar will oversee all program activities, finances and communications for Common Cause, a non-partisan citizen lobby with more than 300,000 members and supporters. Common Cause has a 35-year history of helping citizens to effectively engage in the political process through reform advocacy on issues such as campaign finance reform, government ethics, election reform and media reform.

Edgar, 63, comes to Common Cause with a rich and long history of public service and leadership. In 2000, he took office as general secretary for the National Council of Churches USA, a 50-year-old organization representing 35 member communions and their 45 million members who work to promote unity and justice.

Under Edgar's leadership, the Council focused on major initiatives that included overcoming poverty, protecting the environment, fostering interfaith understanding and working for peace worldwide. He came to the Council from the Claremont School of Theology in Claremont, Calif., where he was president from 1990-2000.

Edgar was elected to the US House in 1974, the first Democrat since the Civil War to represent the heavily Republican 7th Congressional District of Pennsylvania, an area outside of Philadelphia. Part of the Watergate class in Congress that helped pass sweeping ethics and campaign finance reforms, he led efforts to improve public transportation, fought wasteful water projects and authored the community Right to Know provision of Super Fund legislation. He also served on the House Select Committee on Assassinations that investigated the deaths of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., and President John F. Kennedy.

Edgar ran for the US Senate in 1986, losing to Republican Sen. Arlen Specter. He grew frustrated in that race with the undue influence of money in politics and became an active supporter of clean elections and campaign finance reform, issues that have been Common Cause's hallmark.

Edgar has served on Common Cause's National Governing Board since 2005. He also serves on the boards of Independent Sector, another organization founded by Common Cause founder Gardner, the National Religious Partnership for the Environment and the Environmental and Energy Study Institute, an independent non-profit organization Congress uses as a resource for environmental and energy issues.

He has received awards for his work from a number of national organizations, including the American Legion, Vietnam Veterans of America and the National Taxpayers Union.

Gil Langley (art) satisfied a lifetime dream by completing a bicycle trip across the United States this past spring—Los Angeles to Boston, 3415 miles, over 49 days with the CrossRoads Cycling Tour. He saw lots of trains, lots of cows, and lots of nice people. One of the high points was a spectacular 110-mile stretch of country between Las Vegas, N.M., and Tucumcari where there were no services for 75 miles. But this desolate little road had the Canadian Escarpment and dropping off it was breathtaking. Gil reports that "real life" following the tour leaves much to be desired—like you can't go into every Dairy Queen you

DEFERRED GIFTS

Deferred gifts offer creative ways to make a more significant gift to the Campaign for a Brighter Future than you may have thought possible. Here are four of the easiest and most popular ways to make a deferred gift:

IRAs: The Most Overlooked Option

Consider making Lycoming the beneficiary of your IRA. Your IRA can be an excellent—and tax-wise—deferred gift choice. If you leave your IRA to anyone other than your spouse or a charity, significant value may be lost to taxation.

Charitable Gift Annuities: Guaranteed Lifetime Income

Perhaps you would like a little more income than your investments are earning, but you are reluctant to sell appreciated stock because of the capital gain tax you will incur. Consider giving the appreciated stock to Lycoming.

Life Insurance

Consider making Lycoming the beneficiary of a new life insurance policy or one you no longer need. If you make Lycoming the owner – as well as beneficiary – of a policy, your policy payments become tax deductible.

Bequest Gifts

A bequest is one of the easiest ways to make a gift to Lycoming. You may decide to give a specific amount, a percentage of your estate, or all or part of what remains after others have been remembered.

To receive more information on these or other ways to make a difference for Lycoming, please contact Nancy L. Kulchyski, Director of Major and Planned Gifts, at 570.321.4196, or kulchysk@lycoming.edu.

1972

Daniel A. Andrews, of Hughesville, Pa., died August 10, 2007. He is survived by his wife, Tammy, and a daughter.

1977

John L. Fronk, of Las Vegas, Nev., died August 1, 2007. He is survived by his parents and a sister.

2007

Melissa A. Becker, of Williamsport, Pa., died July 3, 2007. She is survived by her parents, a sister, and two brothers.

Ephraim Baker

Mr. Ephraim "Eph" Baker, of Montoursville, passed away on August 19, 2007. Mr. Baker and his wife, Bess, have helped to provide financial assistance to ten students at Lycoming College through the Eph and Bess Baker Scholarship Fund. Mr. Baker also made provisions for an endowed scholarship at the College through a generous planned gift. Student Jessica Bennet '10, of Linden, offered words of gratitude for Mr. Baker's generosity at his memorial service.

Mr. Baker was known for his contributions to the community. He was active in the United Way, the Jewish Foundation, CAPPA, and many other charities. He donated largely to the Million Dollar Round Table Foundation, a world-wide charity that distributes almost two million dollars each year to those in need. The Eph Baker Family Foundation will enable his legacy in charitable giving to continue for years to come.

He served as the President of his local Life Underwriters Association, and was a national committeeman for the National Insurance Association. In 1998, he was honored with the lifetime achievement award at the Pennsylvania Life Association.

As one of the founding members and President of the South Williamsport Lions Club, Mr. Baker was honored in 2006 by being named a Melvin Jones Fellow by Lions Club International to acknowledge his dedication to humanitarian service.

He studied at American College, where he earned degrees as a Chartered Life Underwriter and Chartered Financial Consultant. He started working in the life insurance industry in 1937. For three and a half years, he served in World War II. Upon his return, he resumed his position as the owner of the Baker/Landon Company in Montoursville.

Mr. Baker is survived by his wife, Bess; two children, Richard H. Baker and Joyce Baker Brown '69; four grandchildren and one great grandchild.

LYCOMING COLLEGE

CARNEGIE

We are in good company.

Although Lycoming College is one of the 50 oldest institutions of higher learning in the United States, it is a community with new vitality, ongoing momentum, and a nationally-recognized commitment to quality education.

Lycoming College is classified broadly by the Carnegie Foundation as a Baccalaureate College - Arts & Sciences. More specifically, Lycoming is one of 44 institutions that are small in size, focused exclusively on undergraduate education, are selective in admissions, graduate 80% of their students in the arts and sciences, and include a strong residential experience on campus.

Lycoming College is ranked as one of 217 national liberal arts colleges by U.S. News & World Report and is one of 200 colleges designated as a College of Distinction known for engaged students, great teaching, a vibrant community, and successful outcomes.

In its book Best Buys in College Education, Barron's rated Lycoming as one of 300 colleges in America offering above average education at below average costs.

The John Templeton Foundation included Lycoming College as one of 134 institutions in its Honor Roll for Character-Building Colleges.
